To: Board of Directors

Background:

Per Section 6 of Generation Green's bylaws dated February 25, 2003, "the board shall cause an annual report to be furnished not later than 120 days after the close of the corporations fiscal year (April 30th) to all directors of the corporation and if any members, to any member who requests it in writing" The report shall contain the following information:

Major Activities:

Meetings: The Generation Green board meets monthly on the 2nd Thursday of the month., at Round Table Pizza in Pleasant Hill. The board met each month except for June, July, December when there was no quorum due to vacations and holidays.

Generation Green held its annual meeting of directors and its annual election of the directors in the month of May at the regularly scheduled board meeting: May 19, 2005, in honor of Rachel Carson's Birthday-May 27, 1907. No new board members. But we are recruiting to replace Deb Brown. Linda Monroe says she will consider the opportunity.

Administrative. During 2005 Two resignations were accepted from Board members Bob Haus (August 17, 2005) and Deborah Brown (Jan 23, 2005) . We recruited, accepted applications and appointed two replacements: Linda Monroe and Amelia Sefton. See bios attached.

Reduce activities have included outreach of literature at workshops and fairs and events. To inform the public on important choices we can make in our daily life to reduce our impact on the planet. Literature has included Calmax , recycled oil problem, and related reuse opportunities.

ReUse activities have included 5 recycled art workshops (First Night Martinez, Trailer Trash Sales event, Martinez Community Sale, 4th of July, Lafayette Library) conducted in 2005. Our main client Pleasant Hill Community Center has cancelled their Smash Hits event and their Multicultural festivals. Business s down. Generation Green's three year plan to establish a reuse center to collect reusable materials and resources in contra Costa County is still underway. The Reuse center will be called the "Dumpster Diversion Project.'

Respect. Workshops on Native American, native plants and folklore will be on going. Some of our reuse workshops involved prayer drums, talking sticks and mendalas with literature on native Americans and the respect necessary for our planet. We combined our annual plant sale focused on edible, drought tolerant and herbal folklore plants with the martinez Communiy Sale. Some plants were sold, but another venue may be more appropriate.

a) Assets and liabilities

On December 29, 2005 Generation Green had total assets of $ 2,188.01 in donations in our savings account. Generation Green has not entered into any lease nor does it own any property or interest in any property. Director Lynda Deschambault's home is still used in Moraga, Contra Costa County, California. This is donated space. Generation Green has no loans, debts or credit cards.

b) principal changes in assets and liabilities

No major changes in assets or liabilities. Only donations and payments from ongoing workshops and ongoing expenses

c) Revenue/receipts

In 2005, Generation Green received $678.01 (see attached)

Major revenues were for Pleasant Hill Smash Hits event, and advance payment for EPAs 2004 Reuse Extravaganza

d) Expenses

In 2005, Generation Green had expenses totaling: $458.47 (see attached)

Major expenses were for filing fees for non profit with the state and with federal governments.

e) Net Income: $219.54

I, R.C. Ferris, Treasurer, state that all above statements were made without an independent consultant and without audit from the books and records of the organization. These statements are true to the best of my knowledge. In addition, there were no transactions in which any director or officer had a direct or indirect material financial interest or benefit.

This corporation currently has no membership, hence this annual report has only distributed to the board of directors:

Lynda Deschambault, President
RC Ferris, Vice President, Treasurer
Linda Monroe, Secretary
Marilyn McKinny, Director
Amelia Sefton, Director

Signature, RC Ferris, Treasurer

Amelia K. Sefton, a.k.a. Madame Ovary, Librarian (MLS, University of Michigan, 1972), ex-Civil Serpent by choice (Department of Army, 1975-1991). Artist, Crafter - performer and puppeteer since 1978. Creator of "Toys and Tools for Troubled Times" sm (handmade out of reused materials). Served as East Bay Depot for Creative Reuse Special Events Coordinator (SEC) September, 1997 through November 2002, building the program up from just 6-8 annual events, to over 175 events a year. Administrative work included selecting/soliciting artists and volunteers, contract administration, invoicing, reports, etc.

Madame Ovary, Amelia's Performing Persona, or Alter-EGGo, deftly combines her life-long passions for crafting, storytelling, performing, delight in making something out of nothing, ecological/Eggcological bent, reuse, recycling and resource sharing. A popular performer, she takes her all-ages show "Madame Ovary EGGsplains It All: Lessons in Yolkllore & EGGcology" all over the Bay Area (Sacramento to Milpitas) and further afield, appearing at libraries, festivals, street fairs, farmers markets, Science Fiction Conventions, and parties of all kinds. She teaches reuse crafts to an astonishing age range, from toddlers at Hayward Parent Nursery Association to Seniors at Richmond's Creekside Health Care Center.

Madame Ovary's Trash Transformations - Crowns, Wands, Wings and other Hands-On eco-art experiences, have become a favorite Bay Area resource for community groups and organizations seeking kid-friendly Artist-led eco-art projects which are educational, amusing and amazingly affordable. All have a certain ecological flair, use rescued/recycled materials and provide opportunities for creative, aesthetic experimentation and expression. Her dazzling display of cleverly crafted puppets and, sly, sophisticated word play prove that EGGcological messages needn't be simplistic, insultingly cutesy or dull. That reusing and recycling materials creatively is not only economical, but can be exciting and even lucrative. And that humor-laced lessons "sell better and last longer."
